

Caritas

Michael Novak
August 8, 2009

It is no secret that in U.S. Catholicism these last twenty or so years there has been an increasingly bitter split between two large factions on matters of political economy. Some tilt left, some right.

immense satisfaction.